4th ANNOUNCEMENT

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON MARITIME SAFETY, SECURITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

September 20-21, 2007

Athens, Greece

Following the successful International Symposia on Maritime Safety organized by the University of Piraeus in 1998 and the University of the Aegean in 2001, the National Technical University of Athens announces an International Symposium on Maritime Safety, Security and Environmental Protection. The Symposium is organized by the Laboratory for Maritime Transport at NTUA (www.martrans.org).

The Symposium will take place at the premises of the Eugenides Foundation, and aims at bringing together ship operators, managers, academics and policy-makers to discuss and debate important issues facing the industry as regards safety, security and environmental protection.

THE SYMPOSIUM IS UNDER THE AUSPICES OF:

The Hellenic Chamber of Shipping (NEE)

The Hellenic Marine Protection Association (HELMPEPA)

The International Association of Maritime Economists (IAME)

The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers (SNAME)

The World Maritime University's Journal of Maritime Affairs

SYMPOSIUM SPONSORS include:

American Bureau of Shipping
